The following questions should be used as a guide to help you determine whether or not your complaint is a relevant complaint for the Queensland College of Teachers (the QCT) to deal with.

1. Does your complaint relate to an administrative matter e.g. not providing report cards or feedback about a student’s development; issues about school uniforms; or the application of a policy, including curriculum?
   - Yes   - No
   If yes, you should direct your issues to the school or employing authority.

2. Does your complaint concern employee performance e.g. allegations about a teacher’s performance and/or management?
   - Yes   - No
   If yes, you should direct your issues to the school or employing authority.

3. Does your complaint relate to a Family Court or child safety matter between a teacher and his/her children?
   - Yes   - No
   If yes, you should report your concerns to a relevant authority such as the Queensland Police Service, the Department of Child Safety or seek independent legal advice.

4. Does your complaint involve criminal activity?
   - Yes   - No
   If yes, and you have not already done so, you should contact the Queensland Police Service.

5. Does your complaint involve official misconduct e.g. conduct that could, if proved, be a criminal offence or a disciplinary breach, providing reasonable grounds for terminating the person’s services, if the person is or was a public servant?
   - Yes   - No
   If yes, and you have not already done so, you should refer your concerns to the employing authority and/or the Crime and Corruption Commission (for State and Grammar schools only).

6. Does the allegation/s if proven, raise the belief that the person behaves in a way, whether connected with the teaching profession or otherwise, that does not satisfy the standard of behaviour generally expected of a teacher?.
   - Yes   - No
   If no this is not a complaint that the QCT has legislative authority to address under section 87 of the Act.

The Complaint Form will help you to provide the College with information to assess your complaint and determine what action can be taken. Please complete all the questions on this form.
